INCORPORATING ESG

At CIBC Mellon, we recognize environmental, social and governance (ESG) concerns, consider their impact and endeavour to improve the outlook for our clients, our people and our planet.

In 2024, CIBC Mellon conducted a research study on ESG in Canada. Our research was designed to promote awareness of ESG concerns while offering some knowledgeable insight for our clients.

Our study, which polled 50 of Canada's leading asset owners, confirmed that the industry as a whole continues to report substantial effort and progress. A majority of respondents (84%) reported having an ESG policy in place for their asset management teams, and 80% said there are ongoing strategic efforts at the organization to implement ESG considerations internally. Almost half (48%) also said they perform exclusionary screening of specific sectors and companies, and 46% invest in green / social impact bonds as part of their long-term ESG programs. CIBC Mellon continues to provide access to powerful tools to support clients as they engage with ESG matters, via the reach and influence of our parent organizations. We continue to help clients as they incorporate data to better track the performance of their portfolios.

TRUTH AND RECONCILIATION

At CIBC Mellon, we believe that reconciliation starts with education and requires the acknowledgement of our past history to ensure that it is never repeated. We respect the unique history, culture and rights of Indigenous peoples in Canada, we acknowledge and recognize the ongoing trauma caused by residential schools, and we are committed to the process of truth, justice and reconciliation.

CIBC Mellon continually encourages its employees to educate themselves and contribute to reconciliation at work and in their personal lives. Each year, we provide resources and host events to support truth and reconciliation. In 2024, we:

Hosted a speaker series session for employees featuring Inspire, a national Indigenous registered charity that invests in the education of First Nations, Inuit and Métis people for the long term benefit of these individuals, their families and communities, and Canada.

Offered employees a 4 Seasons of Reconciliation Learning module – a professional development course on the truths and implications of the historical and contemporary relationship between Indigenous peoples and those who settled on their lands in Canada.

Participated in Orange Shirt Day on September 30 to show our support for those impacted by residential schools.

Designed a special MS Teams background image to promote awareness and encourage dialogue.

Promoted additional public resources to our employees, including the Government of Canada's Indigenous learning products site, LifeSpeak's National Day for Truth and Reconciliation resources, National Centre for Truth and Reconciliation, Orange Shirt Society, Legacy of Hope: Where are the children?, Assembly of First Nations "It's Our Time" Toolkit, and Chiefs of Ontario Indian Residential School Information and Resources.

In addition, CIBC Mellon is proud to earn and retain business from leading Indigenous Institutional Investors, such as the First Nations Market Housing Fund.

EMPLOYEE VOLUNTEERING AND AREAS OF CONCENTRATION

CIBC Mellon's Community Program focuses on supporting organizations that matter most to our employees. We support the community in a variety of areas such as diversity, equity and inclusion, environmental sustainability, health and wellbeing, essential community services and much more. We take pride in our employee-directed CSR program and conduct a survey each year to ensure all employees have a say in where our donation dollars are directed.

Volunteering in the communities in which we live and work has always been at the core of CIBC Mellon. Our Community Volunteering program is designed to help CIBC Mellon positively impact local communities and improve the employee experience by enabling employees to volunteer with local community organizations during regular work hours. We support frequent in-house fundraising activities, provide regular volunteering opportunities and contribute directly to not-for-profit organizations where our employees donate their personal time.

UNITED WAY

Each year, CIBC Mellon supports United Way organizations and agencies across Canada through corporate donations, and by amplifying the donations of employees who support the our annual United Way campaign.
